CIRCUIT INFO:

Almeria opened in 2001 so it is a relatively new circuit.

The area just north of Almeria city, where the circuit is located, is officially classed as a desert, and statistically this is the driest circuit in Europe.

You may be more familiar with the area that you might think because this was the location used for many of the old Spaghetti Western films.

This is a great circuit to ride – it was originally designed as a test track, so it has a bit of everything from twisty and technical sections through to a mind-blowing 900 metre straight that tests both your top end speed and your braking capability to the full!

There are some big elevation changes too – so it feels a little like a roller coaster to ride in places – and it has 3 particularly technical sections to keep you on your toes! Initially it's fairly difficult to learn, but it is hugely rewarding and a lot of fun when you get to grips with it.

There's plenty of garage space and a huge paddock, and the cafeteria, which overlooks the circuit, is a great place for a spot of lunch.
